The most common symptoms of depression among all youth were feeling tired or having little energy.